Operating Systems
Spring SEMESTER 2019

Student: Greg Witt
greg.witt625gmail.com

L-01 Review the Syllabus for this Course to answer

What are the preferred methods of communicating with the instructor?

- Listed in the Syllabus are Two forms of contact 812-941-2264 and email rfinkbin@ius.edu

Why is logging in regularly and reading announcements helpful to succeeding online?

- All course materials and assignments will be on Canvas, the canvas site will feature updates and changes. Looking over these elements of the course periodically will lead to successful completion of the required homework and assignments. Posting them on canvas is also required. If you can't access canvas you can't turn in assignments and if students aren't regularly checking the assignments they will not pass

Where are the assignment due dates located?

- Posted on Canvas

Is Late work accepted?

- Yes, However 50% for one week after due date and 0% will be awarded thereafter

What is the policy for making up an exam?

- Exams can be taken late or early with prior personal approval from instructor

How are the learning materials, such as readings, videos and lectures helpful?

- According to the Syllabus 10-12 hours should be spent on this course for preparation and full understanding of the course in its entirety. Therefore extra content to help solidify ideas and build a solid foundation for learning such as readings and videos will be helpful in learning outside of the classroom more efficiently.

What happens if a student plagiarizes materials?

- According to the "How to Succeed at IU" link : "* A student must not adopt or reproduce ideas, opinions, statements, ect. Of another person without appropriate acknowledgement."