Operating Systems
Spring Semester 2020

Greg Witt
greg.witt625@gmail.com

L-21

IBM Supercomputer Identifies 77 Compounds That Could Fight Coronavirus

The Summit Supercomputer has crunched the numbers, and it has now identified 77 chemical Compounds that could help stop coronavirus.

While US Fights COVID-19, 83% of Healthcare Systems Run Outdated Software

It was Discovered from Palo Alto Network checked 1.2 million Internet of Things devices inside of enterprise IT and healthcare organizations in the US and found that 56% are running Windows 7 and the remaining 27% are running outdated systems.

Graph Theory Suggests COVID-19 Might be a 'Small world' after all

The Media is talking about the Growth behavior of COVID-19 according to the experts of Pathology are describing it as a Exponential but data from the WHO suggests that it is actually more like a "Power Law" and not "Exponential"